

Your Theatre Company presents

Banterbury Tales

Modern poetic conversation fused with urban electronic beats. Santo Sucio, the dirty saint meets Cellinette, the erotic moon fairy on a street corner in front of an art gallery. Sleep with the person next to you or start the next race war?

“A confident work that is willing to explore the potential of language. (Santo Sucio) is unrepentant, dirty, cynical yet honest. (Cellinette) flips between bad-girl heat and hippy girlishness... The poetry itself is powerful and imaginative, working at the boundaries between the beat and the beat box. There is something interesting happening in the meeting of media”

Gareth K. Vile, British Review Guide

“Tabloid headlines, race, sexuality, and gender politics. It’s a tantalizing show...”

David Pollock, The Scotsman

Before and After performance (Cocktail hour)

Frequency Response

“A one man jam band combining electronic music with poetry, philosophy and atmosphere”

Friday, the 13th of February

7:30 pm

Gallery 55

55 South Main Street, Natick

8 dollar donation
(2 dollar discount for college I.D)

Banterburytales music composed
BY REASON LAHALLA WITH TEAMDNR

Gallery

Portion of the 8 Dollar donation will be directed to a non-profit animal shelter of Gallery 55s choice.